AC Forum Board of Directors Open Call for Nominations

The AC Forum Board of Directors leads the largest organization of anticoagulant service providers in North America. As the authoritative voice among anticoagulation professionals, the AC Forum offers insight and expertise to those on the front lines.

We will be electing new officers to our Board of Directors this fall. Board service is a chance to grow both personally and professionally, develop skills, and gain unique experience working with other leaders in our field. With the changing landscape of anticoagulation treatments this is an exciting time to be involved in our board and in developing and driving our strategic goals for the future.

In the coming weeks we will open our nomination process. You may nominate yourself or a colleague whom you think would best help us meet our goals.
